WEEKLY REGIONAL FORECAST DISCUSSION

A broad upper-level ridge will briefly move back over the area on Friday. Daytime highs will reach into the low 90s. Daytime highs are forecast to cool back down this weekend as the upper-ridge weakens. An upper-level trough is expected to move across and possibly bring some showers to the region around next Monday and Tuesday. Daytime highs will only be in the middle 70s. Drier conditions looks to resume toward the middle of next week as daytime highs reach back into the lower 80s.
